Cabbage

Cabbage is one of the most underrated vegetables. Not only is it rich in magnesium, potassium, and vitamins C & K, but it is highly versatile - which makes it a valuable ingredient to stock up on. It is resilient enough to withstand roasting and braising, as it is commonly prepared for the St. Patrick's Day staple Corned Beef & Cabbage.

Red Potatoes

Boiled red potatoes are a classic accompaniment to the St. Patrick's Day staple, Corned Beef & Cabbage. Red potatoes are low in starch and high in moisture, making them ideal for hearty cooking methods like braising and boiling. This variety is also best for potato salads.

Shamrock

Petite Lucky Shamrocks from Fresh Origins are the perfect St. Patrick's Day garnish. Rest them on the rim of specialty cocktails or sprinkle them into your St. Paddy's Day salads to add a whimsical touch to your holiday dishes.

Sauerkraut

The word sauerkraut is made up of the German words sauer (sour) and kraut (cabbage). Best known for its tangy flavor and powerful probiotic properties, this "humble" superfood is popular in a variety of cuisines. Still, it is most famous as a side for St. Patrick's Day meals.

Green Food Coloring

Here's how you can really get into the St. Patrick's Day spirit: dye it green! Add a little green food coloring to beer, cookies, cocktails, waffles, milkshakes, eggs, and more! Nothing commemorates St. Patrick's Day quite like an array of green dishes & drinks!

Mint Chip Ice Cream

At Ingardia Bros., we carry a variety of ice cream, gelatos, and sorbets. Perhaps the most festive for St. Patrick's Day is our mint chip. It's a classic all on its own but is also excellent in ice cream sandwiches and boozy shakes.

Ingardia Bros. Produce, Inc. carries a wide variety of fresh produce and dry goods. When placing your next order, be sure to ask your sales representative about our other St. Patrick's Day essentials.
